

FLOUR RATIONING ORDER PREPARED

WHISKY CARGO
INJECTED INTO
PRISON STORYNARCOTICS TAKEN TO WARDEN HOME,
WITNESS SAYS

BY ROBERTA APPLEGATE
Lansing, April 9 (AP)—Al Kurner, a witness in the Hooper conspiracy trial, testified today at the prison ouster appeal hearing that he delivered "about two dozen cases of whisky" to the home of former Warden Harry H. Jackson, and "eight or 10 cases" to the home identified as that of former Deputy Warden George I. Francis.

The liquor, Kurner said, came from O'Larry's Bar in Detroit, where the state charged the Hooper murder conspiracy was plotted. Kurner is now an inmate of the Ionia state reformatory.

Kurner also testified that he took liquor to a spot near the prison, and on the same trip delivered a box which he later understood contained "weeds-narcotics."

Mike Selik Involved
The testimony was submitted to the state civil service commission hearing the appeals of six of the seven officials dismissed from the state prison of Southern Michigan last summer. They include Jackson, George I. Francis, former deputy warden; H. C. Watson, former records clerk; Richard T. Riley, former athletic director; Walter L. Wilson, former chief guard inspector; and Joseph G. Poirier, former inmate accountant.

The name of Mike Selik, convicted in the Hooper case, came into the testimony when the deposed warden started questioning Kurner.

"Mike Selik was in O'Larry's and he asked if I was sure I'd delivered—I thought he said the weed—after the first trip," Kurner said. "It made me mad because I didn't want to deliver any more because of the federal term I'd served."

On the third trip he made from Detroit to Jackson with liquor, Kurner said, he drove in the driveway of a large house across from the state police post near the prison and that a man came to the door with a dog. I found out later it was Mr. Jackson."

Inmates Take Box
Kurner testified, in response to Jackson's cross examination, that "three men who looked like inmates to me now that I've seen inmates were outside the house, and they took out the liquor."

He also had a box "about a foot long and six inches deep," the witness said, "which one of the inmates took up to the man at the door."

On an earlier occasion, he delivered liquor to "a brick house near the state police post, with a big white barn beside it," Jackson identified it as the deputy warden's home.

As Kurner finished his testimony under the examination of Assistant Attorney General Harry W. Jackson (no relation to the ex-warden) Lester S. Moll of the civil service commission ordered the senate chamber cleared of all persons under 21 years of age.

Teen-Agers Ejected
State policemen went up to the balcony, checking birth certificates of young spectators, many of them teen-age school students.

"About Thanksgiving time in 1944 I was told to take eight cases of whisky to Jackson—to meet a fellow on the road by the prison, and I also had a small round box to give him," Kurner testified.

"I took another trip a week or so later, with 10 or 12 cases that I got it at O'Larry's bar. Both times the fellow I saw gave

Vast Construction
Boom Foreseen For Post-War America

Detroit, April 9 (AP)—Postwar America faces a general construction boom "vastly greater than anything imagined," J. T. Callaway, Akron, O., manufacturer, told the Michigan Road Builders' association here tonight.

Callaway, president of the manufacturers division of the American Road Builders' association and an executive of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., addressed the 18th annual banquet of the Michigan Organization of Highway Engineers and Production Men.

Callaway, elaborating on his prepared address, said the country has a 75 billion dollar backlog in all construction including highways, housing, bridges, airports and other kinds of construction.

The "back order pile" before America's machinery manufacturers will not be met until early 1947, Callaway said. He added, however, that once manufacturers can start meeting the demand the nation's road builders will be "gratified by a new precision in production and a more rugged quality of performance."

The United States' projected three billion postwar highway program covering a period of three years is not the "final answer to our highway problems," Callaway said. This program will do only a "facilitating job" on access and regional highways and in breaking bottlenecks, but there still will be a "vast national job to be done," he added.

Edward Porath, of Detroit, was elected president of the Michigan association, succeeding Paul Greene, of Ann Arbor. L. W. Lamb, of Holland, was named vice president and A. H. Fry, of Lansing, secretary-treasurer.

I. L. Whitehead of Sault Ste. Marie was named vice president for the upper peninsula.

JAP TREASURES
DUG UP IN MUDDazzling Hoard Guarded
On Way To Vaults In Bank Of Japan

Tokyo, April 9 (AP)—General MacArthur took new steps to regulate Japanese finances today as heavily guarded truck convoys added another 1,100 bars of silver bullion to an uncounted hoard of gold, silver, platinum and precious stones heaped in dazzling array in the vaults of the bank of Japan.

Still awaited at the bank were two truckloads of gold, silver and platinum ingots discovered last week in the mud of Tokyo Bay. They were dumped off a wharf last July by Japanese officers hoping to save them for "building up a greater Japan after things quieted down."

A Japanese informant said the treasure in the mud was estimated by the officers who hid it to be worth some 30 billion yen—about two billion dollars. Its actual value remained undetermined as experts worked at the job of recovering it from the bay bottom.

Two new measures were taken by General MacArthur to regulate the country's shaky finances.

He abolished the unlimited extension of national credit through government loan guarantees, and borrowing by government instrumentalities; and approved a project whereby Japan's fabulous Zai-batsu (family monopolies) will be forced to sell all of their holdings for government bonds not negotiable for at least 10 years.

Bataan Survivors
Stage Ritual At Detroit City Hall

Detroit, April 9 (AP)—Twenty-one Bataan survivors of the fall of Bataan four years ago kept a pledge today.

In front of the Detroit city hall, as 1,000 spectators watched, the veterans cooked rice over upturned gasoline drums and ladled it into mess kits as a chow line filed by. Later they demonstrated the "prison camp roll call" they were forced to endure by the Japs as many as 30 times in one day.

Decision to hold the city hall ceremony was made by the Detroiters while they were prisoners.

Former Sgt. Isadore Sabbata said the fourth anniversary rites were intended as a memorial service, but also served as "a reminder to everybody of what happened to the Yanks who fought on Bataan."

Conservative Victory
Predicted In Japan's
First Free Election

BY RUSSELL BRINES
Tokyo, Wednesday, April 10 (AP)—Japan's voters turned out today for their freest election in history to show the world what they have learned of western democracy.

Forecasts of a conservative victory were made by Japanese political experts, who agreed a conservative current was running strong in this first post-war election at which 468 members of the house of representatives will be picked from 2,800 candidates.

They predicted that the liberals and progressives—conservative despite their labels—would win a majority of seats between them, but that no single party was expected to dominate the next house.

They likewise predicted that less than three-fourths of the 36,000,000 eligible voters would cast ballots. They said this was due mainly to the peoples' preoccupation with finding enough to eat.

The government, urging the people to exercise their franchise, declared today a holiday to give everyone a chance to vote.

Polls were open between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. First results were expected to be available by late tomorrow, and the city vote should be pretty well tabulated by Friday.

Much of the seeming lack of enthusiasm was blamed on the cynicism of the people, many of whom believe they are in for the same old rule despite the vast changes wrought by seven months of occupation.

There are a number of factors which make this Japan's freest election.

Approximately 21,000,000 women have been granted the right to vote for the first time. And nine of 81 women candidates were accorded by the newspaper Asahi a chance to be elected to the diet.

Political observers said, however, that three-fourths of the women probably would not go to the polls and their vote was expected to have little effect on the results.

SUGAR REFINERY
STRIKE AVERTEDUnions Call Off Their Walkout, Are Willing To Arbitrate

Washington, April 9 (AP)—A strike which would cut off 70 per cent of the nation's output of cane sugar was called today by CIO and AFL unions, effective Saturday midnight.

Seven refineries in four Atlantic coast cities are involved. The unions reached a deadlock in bargaining with the operating companies, but were still willing to arbitrate their wage demands. Department of labor officials continued their efforts, started last Friday, to avert the threatened shutdown.

The unions, asserting that the companies have declined to accept as binding recommendations of a labor department fact-finding panel, said they are demanding an hourly wage increase of 18½ cents, against an earlier request for 15 cents. The companies, they said, had offered 13 cents at some plants and lesser amounts at others.

There was no comment from representatives of the companies. They are the American Cane Sugar Refining Company, with plants at Boston and Baltimore; the National Sugar Refining Company, New York and Philadelphia; W. J. McCann Company and Franklin Sugar Refining Company, American Company Subsidiaries, Philadelphia, and the Revere Sugar Refining Company, Boston. The unions said more than 8,000 workers would be involved in the walkout.

Generals Attempt To Head Off Threat
Of Manchurian War

BY HAROLD K. MILKS
Chungking, April 9 (AP)—Three generals—two Chinese and one American—head for Manchuria tomorrow in a supreme effort to end a crisis threatening to plunge China once more into civil war.

An official announcement that they would leave for troubled Manchuria came as a source close to China's truce committee said General Marshall would hurry back from Washington "within a few days to again take personal charge of the unification program."

The three generals are substitutes for that powerful committee which, since early this year, has been toiling to bring the government and Communist factions together for a united China.

They are Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, Jr., for Marshall; Communist Gen. Chen Chih-Chu, for Gen. Chou En-Lai, and government Gen. Chin Teh-Chun, for Gen. Cheng Cheng, war minister who is ill.

Critical Materials
For State Building
Total Six Million

Lansing, April 9 (AP)—Michigan's $58,129,000 construction program will require $6,000,000 worth of building materials declared critical by the federal government by the end of 1947. A. N. Langius, director of the state building and construction division, said today.

Langius said of the total, $3,500,000 in hard-to-get materials would be needed in 1946 and the rest in 1947.

He said priorities have been received on practically all dormitory construction at Michigan State College and the University of Michigan because they will be used to house veterans

IRAN OPPOSES
RUSSIAN MOVE
TO DROP CASESOVIET DELEGATE
RETURNS TO U. N.
COUNCIL

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
New York, April 9 (AP)—Iran tonight asked the United Nations Security Council to reject Russia's demand that the Iranian question be stricken from its agenda.

The Iranian position was set forth in a letter to Secretary General Trygve Lie which was circulated among the delegates of the Security Council shortly after today's session which was adjourned to an indefinite date.

Receipt of the letter was disclosed by Dr. Quo Tai-Chi of China, council president, during a discussion of when the delegates should take up Russia's demand.

U. S. and Britain Backed

The letter, signed by Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala, said: "I am instructed to state that the position of the Iranian government remains the same as stated to the Security Council in the session of 4 April 1946. It is the desire of my government that the matters referred by Iran to the Security Council remain on its agenda as provided by the resolution adopted on 4 April 1946."

Iran's move greatly strengthened the hand of the United States and Great Britain, who had indicated they would oppose the Soviet proposal to close the Iranian case without waiting until the May 6 date set by the council for reports on the status of Russian troop withdrawals from Iran.

Soviet newspapers had expressed the belief that the Tehran government would instruct Ala to agree to the closing of the case. Such a move would have posed a delicate question for members of the council who desired to keep the case before them.

Confusion Rules

Another question which arose at today's council session was Poland's proposal that the United Nations consider the question of breaking diplomatic relations with Franco Spain.

Amid considerable confusion, the council finally adjourned subject to the call of U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie. Under new rules adopted only today, that call must come within the next 14 days, but it was considered likely the council would meet next on some day next week.

The session was marked by the return to the council of Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, who walked to his seat shortly after 2 a. m. just as calmly and purposefully as he had walked from that same chair March 27 in protest over the discussion of Iran. There was no notice from the

BIG 4 MEETING
GETS APPROVALFrance Agrees To Plan
For Paris Conference
Of Ministers

Paris, April 9 (AP)—France agreed today to a United States proposal for a four-power meeting of foreign ministers here April 25, and asked in her reply that the question of internationalization of the Ruhr be placed on the session's agenda.

The French answer to U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' suggestion for a meeting to prepare the way for the forthcoming European peace conference was sent tonight following cabinet approval. Britain and the Soviet Union already have agreed.

Simultaneously, a communique announced that the cabinet had voted unanimously for continuation of British-French negotiations for an alliance. This gave rise to speculation that a compromise might be reached between French demands for complete severance of the Ruhr from Germany and a British proposal for an economic control which would leave political control in the hands of the Germans.

The French did not suggest that the issue of the Franco regime in Spain be placed before the foreign ministers, and a foreign office spokesman said he did not think the question would arise there.

The foreign office spokesman said that the French, in their reply to Byrnes' proposal, urged that the foreign ministers formulate a common policy on the political and economic future of Germany's industrial Ruhr and the Rhineland.

Nine Months Draft
Extension Favored
In House Committee

Washington, April 9 (AP)—The House Military committee today approved an extension of the draft for nine months instead of the full year which the Army and Navy asked.

Various proposals to suspend inductions temporarily to see how recruiting works out were rejected in the committee. But the committee members who sponsored them reserved the right to offer them as amendments when the bill comes up in the House, probably on Friday.

Meanwhile the Senate Military committee, which had scheduled its final decision on the draft today, put off action on the knotty election-year question for two more days.

The House committee acted in closed session by a vote announced as 15 to 8.

The bill which it recommended would ban the induction of fathers and limit the service of new inductees to 18 months. These provisions were approved in advance by the Army and Navy.

It also would lower the maximum draft age from 44 to 30, while retaining the minimum at 18. However, no men over 26 are being drafted now.

Another provision would limit inductions to only such number as would be necessary, with enlistments, to provide an Army of 1,070,000 a Navy of 558,000 and a Marine Corps of 108,000 on July 1, 1947.

The committee considered a variety of proposals for raising the pay of soldiers and sailors as a means of promoting enlistments. It decided not to tie up any pay increase with the draft legislation, however, and deferred action on the pay question.

The Army and Navy, and President Truman, have recommended a flat 20 percent pay increase for all officers and men.

The Senate committee voted down various alternatives to the flat one-year extension which the Army and Navy have requested, but delayed a final decision until Thursday.

MOTHER ADMITS
DROWNING CHILDLittle Daughter, Age 1,
Held Face Down
In Bathtub

Dearborn, Mich., April 9 (AP)—A young mother was charged with first degree murder today in the bathtub drowning of her four-year-old daughter after telling police "I just couldn't see any future happiness for her."

The mother, 32-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Berg, will be arraigned on the charge in municipal court Friday. She is the wife of a Dearborn business man.

From a hospital bed where she is recovering from what police described as a suicide attempt following the drowning of the little girl, Anita, Assistant Prosecutor Ralph Garber said Mrs. Berg told him of putting water in the tub and of the subsequent drowning.

Garber, who said Mrs. Berg had been receiving treatment for a nervous ailment, quoted from her statement to him:

"The water was warm. Then Anita came down in her pajamas and wanted to know what I was doing.

"I said, 'come on. You will have to take your bath now.' I took off her pajamas and got into the tub with her. I laid her face down in the water. Anita cried, 'I don't want to. I want my breakfast (breakfast) now.'"

"I told her no, to lie her face down. She did what she was told. She trusted her mother. I leaned over her. I just held her head gently down with my left hand. I wanted it to be over quickly. I didn't want her to suffer. She didn't make any struggle. She was pretty small."

"It was over with before I hardly knew what had happened."

Hindus Sacred City
Cut Off By Storm

Benares, India, Wednesday, April 10 (AP)—This sacred city of Hindus on the Ganges River was completely cut off from the outside world yesterday by a heavy storm which silenced all communications.

The city was in darkness as uprooted trees damaged power, telephone, telegraph and rail lines. Many boats in the Ganges capsized, and damage to crops was extensive.

First reports said four persons were electrocuted by fallen live wires.

Democrats To Hold
State Convention
In Lansing July 6

Lansing, April 9 (AP)—Michigan Democrats will hold their state convention here July 6, State Chairman David M. Martin of Flint said today.

Prudden auditorium has been engaged for the 1,960 delegates expected to attend. Martin said there will be one delegate for every 500 Democratic votes cast for secretary of state in the last general election.

ACTION TAKEN
GRAIN ABROADVIGOROUS PROTESTS
FILED BY BAKERS
AND GROCERS

BY OVID A. MARTIN
Washington, April 9 (AP)—Officials drafted an order tonight which would ration flour to bakers and grocers—but not to housewives—designed to cut consumption by one-fourth in order to send more abroad.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, telling a news conference that the order is in preparation, said he would decide tomorrow whether to issue it. Bakers and millers protested it vigorously.

Agriculture department officials told a conference of millers and bakers that a 25 per cent reduction in the distribution of flour for domestic consumption must be made during the next 60 to 75 days to help meet foreign commitments.

New Crop In June

They said wheat and flour supplies will be replenished as soon as this year's crop starts moving to market in June.

They suggested a government order which would make it unlawful for millers to distribute domestically more than 75 per cent of the quantity of flour distributed in a base period. Officials suggested that the base period be either the corresponding month last year or January of this year.

The proposal brought sharp protest from milling and baking industry spokesmen.

The only alternative to such an order, officials said, is a condition under which millers, bakers and retailers would be left to struggle for what wheat and flour they could get, with resulting "maldistribution of short supplies."

Wheat Shortage Faced

Officials said the limitation on flour distribution, if put into effect, would not extend to consumers buying bread, bakery products and flour because consumer rationing machinery could not be established in time to help.

The meeting on the proposed flour rationing program brought from Carl D. McKenzie, president of the Millers National Federation, the prediction that Americans may be without flour before long because of a market shortage of wheat.

He said this shortage reflects either a serious shortage of wheat on farms, or a refusal of farmers to sell at present prices, or a combination of these two factors.

BREADLINES PREDICTED

Detroit, April 9 (AP)—Detroit bakers today declared that the proposed government plan for a 25 per cent cut in domestic consumption of flour "would result in breadlines here within 48 hours" after the order becomes effective.

Leonard C. Sauer, manager of the Peter Pan Bakeries, acted as spokesman for more than 50 Detroit area bakers who met at a downtown hotel today to discuss

THORSEN HEADS COUNTY BOARD

Wells Supervisor Named Chairman For 7th Term

Supervisor O. J. Thorsen of Wells yesterday was reelected chairman of the Delta county board of supervisors at the annual reorganization session. He is starting his seventh consecutive term. Supervisor Charles Priestler of Escanaba was elected chairman pro-tem.

There was but one nomination for each office and no opposition. Unanimous ballots were cast for each candidate.

Only one new supervisor was seated at yesterday's annual meeting. He was Councilman Marvin L. Coon of Escanaba, who defeated Henry Wylie in the recent city election. Escanaba councilmen also represent the city on the board of supervisors.

Councilman Coon was a colorful figure at the board meeting. His uniform of commander in the U. S. Navy, contrasting with the staid business suits of the other county board members, Commander Coon is on terminal leave and will receive his discharge next month. Introduced by Chairman Thorsen, Coon said that he hoped for an amicable and helpful term of office.

Because there was little change in board membership, committees for the ensuing year also were little changed from last year. Chairman Thorsen announced committee appointments as follows:

Grand Rapids Can't Find Housing For Baptist Delegates

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 9 (AP)—Unless private housing accommodations can be found, 1,000 delegates to the Northern Baptist convention here May 21-26 may have to stay in hotels.

That many delegates have no prospects at present of obtaining hotel reservations. Delegates from all sections of the country are expected to number about 6,000. The convention bureau is arranging accommodations for 4,000 delegates and expects it will be able to put up 1,000 more in private homes.

Dr. Joseph C. Hazer, of New York City, corresponding secretary of the convention, who discussed the housing problem with convention directors here, said that unless they could be cared for in private homes, 1,000 delegates will be asked to remain away.

The convention, scheduled for the first time since the start of the war, is a national gathering sponsored by the Baptist church.

Changes In Servicemen's Act Will Affect All Vets Seeking Financial Help

One or more of the basic changes in the amendments to the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 will eventually affect every veteran of World War II, who takes advantage of his rights in respect to loans or other financial aid.

These changes are outlined in detail in a bulletin recently received by William Butler, of the Veterans Administration office in the federal building here, and complete information on them may be had from him.

INFLATED PRICES
A number of veterans here have recently been refused real estate loans under the GI Bill of Rights because, in every case, the price asked for the property (usually a home) was far in excess of its appraised value. In several instances, appraisers found homes that veterans wished to buy to be worth only half the price being asked by their owners.

Most important of the basic changes are:
Increase in the amount of guaranty entitlement on real estate loans to $4,000.

Classification of lending institutions.
Broadening the purposes for which loans can be made.

Extending the maturities of loans.
Extending the time to ten years for veterans to avail themselves of their guaranty entitlement.

Insuring supervised institutions against losses on loans otherwise eligible for guaranties.

Eligibility Changes
Veterans are eligible if they have had active service of ninety days or more after Sept. 16, 1940, and who have been discharged or released from service under conditions other than dishonorable. They may be eligible with less than ninety days active service by reason of injury or disability incurred in the service in line of duty. Officers on terminal leave are now eligible.

The guaranty entitlement remains at $2,000 on non-real estate loans. Veterans may use a combination of real estate and non-real estate loans but when they once use their maximum entitlement, that is all. Repayment of loan releasing their obligation on the guaranty does not make them again eligible.

Lending institutions are now divided into two classifications: supervised and non-supervised. Supervised lenders are those that are subject to examination and supervision by an agency of the United States or of any state.

Non-supervised lenders are all others. A non-supervised lender may be approved to act as a supervised lender if it is acting in an agency capacity for a supervised lender.

Fewer Limitations
The purposes for which loans can be made have been materially broadened. Some of the more important changes are:

(1) Removal of the six-month limitation on re-financing a land contract. The balance due on a land contract may now be refinanced, providing the reasonable value equals or exceeds the purchase price regardless of the date of the land contract.

(2) Exigent conditions may arise in an eligible transaction where it becomes necessary for a veteran to have temporary financing for the immediate acquisition of a home, equipment, supplies, or for other purposes. In such cases, the loan, if otherwise eligible, will be guaranteed if the loan report or application for guaranty is filed with the Veterans Administration within 60 days of the date the obligation was incurred.

(3) The business loan provisions have been greatly altered and liberalized; loans for working capital and inventory are now eligible.

(4) Two or more veterans may purchase or construct a residential property in excess of four family units. An apartment house, for example, to the extent that one separate family unit may be added to the basic four units for each veteran participating in the ownership. The loan for these purposes will be processed as a business loan.

(5) Loans may be guaranteed to refinance delinquent indebtedness provided it is secured of record on the property used or occupied by the veteran as a home or for farming purposes.

There is no limitation of the amount of the loan that may be guaranteed except: Loans to be guaranteed under Section 505 may not exceed 20% of the purchase price.

Details of the changes in respect to extension of the maturities of loans; extension of the time to ten years for veterans to avail themselves of their guaranty entitlement and insuring supervised institutions against losses or loans otherwise eligible for guaranties may be had from Mr. Butler.

Monopoly Broken; Everlasting Match To Be Made In U. S.

BY HARVEY L. SCANDRETT
Washington, April 9 (AP)—The government asserted today it has broken up a world-wide match monopoly and cleared the way for American manufacture of an "everlasting match."

Attorney General Tom Clark said these results were obtained through the issuance by a New York federal court of a consent decree ending a civil suit filed in 1944 by the justice department's anti-trust division against the match producers of America and Sweden.

The defendants, however, in signing the decree, stated that they did not admit any violation of the law. The government also stipulated that the decree, signed by Federal Judge Samuel M. Edelbaum, was not to be taken as an admission of unlawful activities by any of the defendants.

Clark said in a statement that the decree dissolved a "world-wide match cartel" which the government charged was formed to control the manufacture and distribution of matches. Wendell Berge, head of the justice department's anti-trust division, said it also required the issuance of royalty free licenses to any persons desiring to produce the so-called "everlasting match." Berge described this as a match which may be struck several thousand times before it is consumed and said it was successfully produced in Holland and Switzerland in the 1930s.

Senate Restores $600,000,000 Fund As Housing Subsidy
Washington, April 9 (AP)—The administration won a major round in the housing battle late today when the senate voted, 53 to 20, to restore a $600,000,000 subsidy fund to the bill designed to provide 2,700,000 homes in the next two years.

The house had knocked the subsidy out of the measure. Intended to encourage production of scarce building materials, the provision is viewed by President Truman as the heart of the bill.

Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) made an unsuccessful attempt to keep such a fund out of the bill. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) likewise was defeated, 38 to 35, in an effort to delete a provision under which the government could guarantee a market for pre-fabricated houses.

As the senate approached a vote on the whole bill, it fell into an argument over whether price ceilings should be set on both old and new houses.

Higher Subsidies May Prevent Rise In Dairy Products
Washington, April 9 (AP)—Government officials said today that plans to allow retail price hikes for milk, butter and cheese may be ruled out in favor of increased subsidies.

These officials, who asked to remain anonymous, added that on the other hand there may be a combination of higher subsidies and perhaps smaller price increases than had been planned originally.

A week ago the plan called only for increased dairy product prices, the officials said. They had estimated that milk might go up at least a half cent a quart, butter six cents a pound and cheese about three cents.

Officials said they expect a decision in a day or so.

Uniform Taxation Plan Studied By Supervisors

Working toward what is expected to become a uniform system of taxation for county, school and township tax purposes, the Delta county board of supervisors yesterday took the following preparatory steps:

1—Adjourned yesterday's meeting to the call of Chairman O. J. Thorsen, so that a meeting may be held to consider what percentage of the total property revaluation figure in the county will be accepted for tax purposes.

2—Advised township supervisors that revaluation information for their townships will be available soon as the result of the reappraisal made by the J. M. Clemishaw company under its contract to the county.

3—Approved the appointment of a special committee to study the advisability of purchasing a machine, which would be located at the courthouse, and used by the township supervisors in annual tax listing work.

Chairman O. J. Thorsen advised the supervisors that the Clemishaw company's reappraisal of property valuations in Gladstone and the townships is now being completed. Card files on valuations as appraised by the company will be ready within a couple of days for the townships, later for the county. The work has been under way for the past year and the cost to the county will be $11,500, payable over a three-year period.

At its adjourned meeting the supervisors will face the task of working out on a percentage basis the amount of the new valuation which it will be necessary to accept to raise the required tax levy for the county, the schools and the townships.

The percentage figure which will be set will be the "yard stick" by which supervisors can adjust their assessed valuations prior to meetings of their township boards of review, and the June equalization meeting of the county board.

This percentage figure will be applied in the cities and the townships, so that uniformity will be achieved under the new valuations. Each of the 16 taxing units in the county therefore will bear a uniform share of the tax burden, a point which has been in dispute at equalization time in past years.

Township supervisors will have the benefit of the Clemishaw revaluation figures in making up their 1946 tax rolls. These will be loaned temporarily, or the township may purchase a duplicate set of appraisal cards at a cost of about $200.

The supervisors from the townships evinced interest in a proposal by Councilman S. R. Wickman of Escanaba that the county purchase an addressograph machine which would speed the annual preparation of tax rolls and eliminate the likelihood of errors in copying descriptions. It would be of value in preparing tax receipts, and all the work involved for the 14 townships could be done in a period of two or three weeks with the machine and skilled operator, Wickman said.

The city recently purchased a new addressograph and has a used one which it would sell to the county, Wickman added.

Chairman Thorsen named a committee of eight supervisors to investigate the possibility of speeding up tax roll work and reducing errors by the use of such a machine. The committee, composed of Supervisors Charles Priestler, C. E. Anderson, Carlson, Casimir, Harold Gustafson, Allen Mercier, W. Nieuwenkamp and Marvin L. Coon, will report back to the board at a later meeting.

The board referred to the purchasing committee the matter of purchasing new plat books to replace the ones printed in 1913.

An equalized valuation analysis of Delta county, furnished by the state tax commission following its revaluation of the county last year, was received and filed. Copies are to be made for the information of the township boards, and to supply the public.

BOARD ELECTS KNOX CHAIRMAN

Road Commission Report Takes Up Time Of Supervisors

Munising.—The Alger county board of supervisors met Tuesday, April 9, for their regular monthly meeting. Only one new member was present at the meeting, James LaCombe, who replaced William C. Duffett. There were no spring elections in the townships this year.

James Knox of Munising township was re-elected chairman of the board by a unanimous vote, there being no other nominations.

The first business presented to the board was by John Gatiss, chairman of the Alger county road commission, who requested that the board of supervisors make payment to the road commission of a sum of $40,000 that was loaned to the supervisors in 1931 to enable them to keep operating the county during the depression year.

Mr. Gatiss pointed out that since the time of the loan no part of the debt has been repaid to the road commission. The road commission pointed out that the federal government to carry a project for 11.5 miles of bituminous surfacing in the following places: 2.5 miles north of Trenary, 3 miles from Limestone cemetery west, 3 miles on the Connors road in Munising township, 1.5 miles north of Deerton and 1.5 miles on the main street in Grand Marais. The county's cost on the proposed project would be $23,231.60 with the federal government to match the county's cost. George L. Depeew, superintendent and engineer of the road commission, appearing before the supervisors, said that these projects are to be advertised and let out on bids and before any contract is granted, the amount of each contract, that is, the county's portion, must be in the hands of the state highway commissioner. These are the reasons that the road commission is asking payment of the $40,000.

It was suggested that the sum be spread over a period of three years but a legal opinion will be sought by the county prosecutor from the attorney general before the matter can be settled.

The road commission also submitted the following report for the year ending December 31, 1945, to the supervisors. The report reads: "Construction: Due to the limit of funds and inability to obtain parts to put our crushing plant in repair, very little construction work was done. However, we have done considerable heavy maintenance on several McNitt roads. The State Highway Department, in conjunction with the Federal Forest highway No. 13 is preparing for a 2 to 2½ inch bituminous surface. The stabilizing was done last summer as per their request and they informed us that the surfacing would be done in 1946 from Wetmore south to US-2 a distance of thirty six miles.

State Trunk Lines: Outside of regular maintenance, thirty two miles of seal coat was placed on the black top of M-28. Several curves and straight-a-ways were widened on M-94 between Munising and Forest Lake. We anticipate some extra heavy maintenance work this coming season on M-94, from Munising west to Marquette county line and on M-77 south from Grand Marais to the Schoolcraft county line.

Finances: On January 1, 1946, we showed a balance of $26,220.28. Most of this balance is earmarked to meet payrolls (a ten per cent increase to county workers was granted two weeks ago) as no appreciable receipts are anticipated until the latter part of April. It was necessary to pass payment on our February and March invoices, but they will be paid to the latter part of April. We paid $34,899.95 on new and used equipment last year; this includes notes on equipment purchased the year prior and $5,000 as down payment on trucks ordered last October.

Equipment: Our large expense is in keeping our old equipment in repair. We did however, take bids on new equipment last October and it was decided that we purchase two Fords, 1½ tons; two 1½ ton Chevrolets; one 2½ ton Reo; and three 2½ ton Diamond T's. We received the two Ford trucks in December, but the others could not state a definite delivery date. With these new units, the cost of repair will be greatly reduced in the future.

UNO Monkey Wrench

THE Soviet government, which seems to have a penchant for tossing monkey wrenches into the UNO machinery, has come forth with another stickler by insisting that the UNO security council drop the Iranian problem immediately instead of keeping the Iran case on the agenda until May 6.

As the Brazilian delegate, Dr. Veloso, pointed out, it is logically up to Iran, and not to Russia, to ask that the problem be wiped off the security council slate immediately. The May 6 date was previously adopted because it was felt that the matter of Soviet troop withdrawals from Iran would be cleared up by that time. Just why Russia insists upon closing the case now is not made clear.

Apparently Russia feels aggrieved by the look of suspicion cast upon her as a result of the Iranian situation, but the Soviets, usually realistic in their dealings with international affairs, certainly must recognize that movement of troops into a neutral country is not exactly an act of friendship.

Until such time as Iran moves for the dismissal of the problem from the agenda of the security council, the UNO should take no action to close the affair in advance of May 6. By that time the situation in Iran will be clearer than it is now and the problem can be dealt with realistically.

One Term Limit

THE Dirksen resolution to limit the presidential tenure to one term of six years has been revived by Republicans in the House of Representatives.

The move was started about a year ago but it found a resting place in the pigeonhole of the house elections committee. Led by Rep. Dirksen of Illinois, supporters of the single presidential term plan are determined to bring the proposal to a vote at this session.

Advisability of a single term for the president has been discussed pro and con for many years. The idea has appealed to some Republicans, of course, because of the precedent-breaking election of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt for four terms. Whether they will be so eager for the change now that there is the probability that the nation will vote Republican in 1948 remains to be seen.

One of the strongest arguments in favor of the single term is that the president would not be guided in his actions by political considerations. The theory is that he would act in the best interests of his country, knowing that he would not have to face the electors at the polls again, anyway.

There is another angle to the situation, however. A president or governor, who lets it be known that he is not a candidate for reelection, loses control of his congress or legislature. This fact was noticeable in the state legislature in Michigan when Gov. Harry F. Kelly announced he would not be running this year.

Death for the Beast

L.T.-GEN. MASAHARU HOMMA, the "Beast ofataan," kept his date with a U. S. Army firing squad the other day, just six weeks after his uniformed comrade-in-crime, Lt.-Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, "Tiger of Luzon," stretched a hangman's noose. Thus died, in the Philippine capital they did so much to desecrate, the two principal war criminals among Japanese field commanders. A most fitting end. Or is it an end?

Yamashita, who went to his revered ancestors in the "disgrace" of an undecorated fatigue uniform with only a rope for a necktie, favored his executioners with a gracious pardon for their injustice to him. But Homma, permitted an "honorable" death in full military regalia, did not feel constrained to dilute the sacredness of his worldly exit with consideration for infidel Americans. He refused to make a final statement.

This is not necessarily to say that the "Beast" has been eternally denied voice. His "final statement," it seems to us, has merely been withheld for the time being. It is now being prepared, in Washington and in Tokyo, in London and in Nagoya, at Hunter College and at Tokai Institute. When at last it is released, it will determine which ideology truly won World War II, and whether the savage philosophy of Yamashita and Homma really died with them.

The American courts-martial which passed judgment on the "Tiger" and on the "Beast" viewed the trials as an opportunity further to impress the Japanese people with the fairness and the impartiality of democratic processes. These men, obviously guilty of the most heinous crimes against humanity, were accorded scrupulous legal consideration, though they long since had been condemned by outraged international public opinion.

And were the Nipponese convinced of the desirability of democracy? We rather think not. It is more probable that they regarded the courts' deliberations as mildly interesting preliminaries to an inevitable end—the pronouncement of death sentences.

The evidence is present in abundance, it seems to us. Yamashita's conviction was followed by mass demonstrations of protest in Tokyo; Homma's by public exhibitions of grief for this man who "but did his duty to the Emperor." The democratic general elections of April 10, which have given rise to so many foreign elucubrations, have aroused so little interest in Japan that the lightest of voting turn-outs is expected, despite the national holiday decreed. Public criticism of Hirohito is still socially intolerable. And the "magnificent" new constitution remains but an historic piece of paper.

The final returns are not yet in, of course. The Shintoistic fanaticism of Yamashita and Homma may yet be eradicated. But so far it has more than held its own in what remains of the "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere."

Further Proof

THE roundup in Germany of the sizable cell of a new Nazi movement re-emphasizes the need for a strong American force in our occupation zone. It ought to convince Congress, if further convincing is necessary, that the draft will have to be extended if enlistments continue to fall—as they are falling now—to bring Army strength to the point which military leaders say it requires.

The more we weaken our force in Germany, the bolder the defeated die-hards will become, and the more gravely world peace will be threatened. The Nazi spirit isn't dead. We must not let our vigilance and strength expire.

THE BUILDING BAN

(Toledo Blade)

In forbidding the start of any new commercial or industrial construction unless specifically authorized, the Federal Government has loaded another shotgun with good intentions and fired a general broadside in all directions.

Any objections to its objective of building new homes as rapidly as possible for veterans can properly be brushed aside as selfish. That is the most important task before the country, and business as usual should wait until it is accomplished. Since our fighting men dropped everything else until we were secure in our homes, the country should concentrate on building houses until they are secure in theirs.

But the blanket order issued by National Housing Expediter Wyatt is so broad in scope that it is much more likely to cause confusion than speed up action. With many of the details of the program still to be worked out, with 71 regional offices still to be set up, with no one quite understanding what it is all about, the immediate result of the order is likely to be a decline rather than an increase in building.

This is particularly true if, as many construction men say, the materials now available for commercial and industrial building are not suitable for homes. With so much repair work to be done, with so much plant expansion required, it seems wasteful to let these materials stand in warehouses when they can't be used in relieving the housing shortage. And though the Government may say that the men who would otherwise be building commercial and industrial plants will automatically be forced into building homes, the transition isn't as easy or as automatic as that.

But the greatest objection to stopping any building which will not cause a corresponding increase in home building is that it may make it difficult for some of the veterans to buy the homes they are supposed to get. Every new factory which is built, every new store which is built, every new commercial plant of any sort which is built creates new jobs; and many veterans are looking for jobs along with homes. In undertaking to provide them with one, the Government should be careful not to deprive them of the other. And it is extremely difficult to take careful aim with blanket orders.

Some farmers use a bell and others ring a chicken's neck for dinner.

WORDS TO WATCH

Q. To settle an argument, please state whether the "fall" or "infallible" rhymes with "ball" or "pal."

A. Infallible, "not capable of erring," is accented on the second syllable, which rhymes with "pal," thus: in-FALL-i-b'l.

Q. Who is right? A says that the first syllable of "pulmonary" rhymes with "full." B says it should rhyme with "dull." (I'm B.)

A. B wins. The "u" has the "uh" sound as in "dull, null," thus: PUHL-moe-NAIR-ee.

Q. To decide a wager, tell us whether it is correct or not to pronounce Joliet, Illinois, as "Jolly-ETTY."

A. Sorry, no. The first syllable is like "Joe," and receives the accent, thus: JOE-i-ett.

Q. I've been corrected for saying, "He has the Saint Vitus dance." But why is that wrong?

A. The correct form is "Saint Vitus's dance" (say: VY-tuss-erz). The name was first given to an epidemic of nervous dancing mania occurring in parts of Germany in the Middle Ages. The victims often prayed before the shrine of St. Vitus,

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

New York—With Iran at least temporarily disposed of, the United Nations Security Council will take up the calmer subject of procedure and the rules by which the council is to be guided in the future. One handicap during the crisis just ended was that the council improvised as it went along.

When rules of procedure are agreed upon, the council will be in a better position to handle disputes like the one between Iran and the Soviet Union. No one doubts that similar squabbles will arise, and in the very near future.

In fact, they are already visible on the horizon. It was not hard to detect behind the words of the Egyptian delegate, Mahmoud Hassan, something more than concern for Iran. Egypt is occupied by British troops. Egypt is seething with an almost fanatical nationalism. Delegate Hassan had hinted earlier that he might make a plea to the council.

—NEW TREATY WITH EGYPT—

At a moment when the Iranian crisis was hottest, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin announced in parliament the names of the delegates who could go to Cairo to negotiate a new treaty with Egypt. That may have been more than a coincidence. Until that development, there had been concern among some council members that the Egyptian question might arise in almost as acute a form as the Iranian issue.

The background on Egypt is singularly revealing with respect to colonialism and imperialism. For 3,000 years, the Egyptians have been governed by foreign masters. But now a ferment is stirring this ancient people.

In 1936, Britain and Egypt signed a treaty of alliance. Under that treaty, the British were allowed to keep 10,000 troops in Egypt. Article 8 of the treaty describes in lengthy detail where these troops are to be quartered, specifying that most of them shall be used to guard the Suez canal.

During the war, of course, Cairo was GHQ for the British armies of the middle East. Thousands upon thousands of his majesty's troops moved in and out of Egypt. On the terrace of Shepherd's hotel in Cairo, high-ranking British officers consoled each other in the dark days when the Germans were almost at Alexandria.

This vast influx of troops might have been accepted as a wartime necessity if the British had moved out promptly at the end of the war. But British troops continued to be quartered in the center of Cairo. Rioting and violence several times centered around their barracks.

A clause in the 1936 treaty provided that, if both parties agreed, it could be revised at the end of ten years. Recently, both Egypt and Britain agreed to such a revision. The delegation named by Bevin is going to Cairo for that purpose.

—JOINT DOMINION—

Besides the question of the presence of British troops in Egypt, there is another, and in a way, an even more touchy issue. Under the '36 treaty, the Sudan has been governed by an Anglo-Egyptian "joint dominion," which is a fancy word for joint dominion. In actual practice, it has meant that the British have done the job of governing. Moreover, they have done it very well. Objective observers say they have raised the level of living among the Sudanese and brought order and law to that once-troubled area.

Egyptian nationalists, however, will not recognize any virtues in British rule. They believe the entire Nile valley should be restored to Egypt, as in the days of Egypt's greatness.

In many other parts of the world, the British have done the same thorough job of order-keeping. But it has always been done from the perspective of a superior, governing class helping dependent peoples. And in the background were the necessities of the empire, either strategic or economic.

If the tide of nationalism entirely wipes out that order-keeping and the gains it has brought, then the world will be in for a lot of trouble. The United Nations will find on its doorsteps more problems that it can possibly cope with.

In many cases—perhaps in the Sudan, for example—it should be possible for the new world organization to take over custodianship from the British. That would be the way of orderly transition. It would avoid the anarchy and confusion in which extremism thrives.

for the saint was believed to have the power of healing them. Say: He has Saint Vitus's dance.

The common medical term, however, is chorea, pronounced: koe-REE-uh. Chorea, appropriately, is from the Greek word choreia, "dance."

Lincoln: Here in the Midwest, we use the word "kensington" to designate any social entertainment other than bridge. What is the origin of the word?—Mrs. G. A. A.

Answer: The only listing in the reference books of my library is in Webster's New International Dictionary, Second Edition: "kensington (note small 'k'), noun. A kind of afternoon social party, especially one at which sewing and knitting are done." No origin is given, but there probably is some connection with Kensington, a historic and fashionable borough of London.

FORCE OF HABIT—An Escanaba young man, now discharged from the U. S. army, and who served overseas with the former Major Leonard Ward in the same engineering outfit, found that army discipline can become a force of habit.

The young man was observed leaving a Ludington street shop, carrying a rather large and awkward box of something on his shoulder. Going through the doorway he encountered Leonard Ward, also an Escanaban, but a former major and therefore remembered by the young man as an officer rating a salute.

"Hello, sir," said the former GI, and saluted smartly, despite the box on his shoulder and the absence of uniforms.

RUNWAYS FOR DUCKS—And from Southern Michigan comes a story (via the conservation department) that a flock of northward-flying ducks mistook a macadam surfaced highway, slick with rain, for a water course. Much to the chagrin of the ducks, whose leader should certainly have known better, they came coasting in for a landing on the highway. One of the ducks was killed. The others just "quacked" up.

WONDERFUL DAY—Writes a Bay Shore Road resident:

"The greatest thrill that I ever had in a long time was this morning when I looked out my door and saw a big new Delta Transit bus stop in front of my house. Oh, what a wonderful feeling. Now I can go down town whenever I want. Life seems more like living now."

While we can sympathize with the Bay Shore Road resident in his "wonderful feeling," we also wonder whether he has considered the possibility that the bay shore-Ford River Mills area may not eventually become an Escanaba suburb. The town is growing out that way, and we understand that many property owners in Ford River township look to Escanaba rather than the township for what they want. Many of them pay their taxes to the county treasurer rather than the township treasurer.

More and more Escanaba folks are looking toward the south bay shore as a place for a year-around home site. Bus service will speed such development.

NOT SO SMART—H. L. Holderman of 916 Seventh avenue south tells a story about an old recluse who owned an exceptionally intelligent dog.

A stranger stopping by the old man's place in the woods one day found the old man and the dog playing checkers.

"You certainly have a smart dog there," said the stranger. Looking up from the checkerboard, the old man said, "Oh, I don't know about that—I can beat him two games out of three."

TAKE IT EASY—It is at this season of the year that the careless motorists can do the most damage to the wild creatures who must occasionally cross man-made traffic lanes.

The wildlife traffic toll is highest in spring, game men say, because of the additional loss of helpless young being carried or cared for. Car drivers can do much to cut the toll by slowing

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—There was more plain talking than was generally reported last week when half a hundred house Democrats met behind closed doors to discuss an article in the Democratic Digest attacking Democrats who voted for the anti-labor Case bill. If any Republican had been allowed to be present, he would have figured the 1948 election was already in the bag.

Die-hard Representative Roger C. Slaughter of Missouri, who represents President Truman's home district, summed up the general sentiment when he shouted: I'm damned if I'll ever clear my Democratic position with Henry Wallace, the Pacific Northwest or the New York East side."

What Slaughter was raving about was an article written by Mrs. Jane Heldt in the Democratic Digest. She was later dismissed, but despite that, Slaughter made it clear he considered his fellow-Missourians, Bob Hannegan, responsible.

The offending sentence which started so much tooth-gnashing among Dixie Democrats read: "Let your representatives know that the passage of the restrictive Case bill was a vote against the American people."

The meeting was called by Slaughter and seven other reactionaries, including Howard W. Smith of Virginia, Thomas G. Abernethy of Mississippi, Graham A. Barden of North Carolina, Lyle A. Boren of Oklahoma, Harold H. Earhman of Tennessee, Ed Gossett of Texas and Charles E. McKenzie of Louisiana. Even before the meeting was called, however, full apologies had been made by Gladys Avery Tillot, Democratic vice-chairman.

Representative Joe W. Ervin of North Carolina reported this apology when the group met, explaining: "Mrs. Tillot (who lives in Charlotte, N. C.) is as much a Southern Democrat as John Rankin actually is and as Senator Claghorn claims to be."

—APOLOGIES DON'T COUNT—

However, it was Hannegan and Wallace whom angry members were really out to get, not the women in charge of the Democratic Digest. The apology went unheeded.

Louisiana's McKenzie then outlined the real reason for the secret caucus in a lengthy statement, pointing out that there are 120 Southern Democrats who should have a good deal more to say about party policy. The administration not only has not consulted the Southerners, he said, but for years it has followed a legislative line which it knows Southerners oppose.

"Nearly half the Democrats in the House are from the South," he warned, "and the day is coming when the administration is going to have to listen to us or else get no support from us. And how far could they get without us?"

Present throughout the meeting was Representative Albert Gore of Tennessee, leader of the unofficial liberal bloc to fight for White House measures. His face was long.

Finally when Abernethy demanded a public retraction from Hannegan for the offending article, Gore quietly argued with the Mississippian for several minutes, urging him to tone down the resolution. Earlier, a mild resolution by Representative Will Whittington also of Mississippi—calling merely for investigation of the article—was vigorously shouted down.

Gore failed to pacify Abernethy, and the harsher resolution was passed with a few dissenting votes. The dissenters included: Whittington of Mississippi, Malcolm C. Tarver of Georgia and John E. Lyle of Texas.

More than half a dozen members spoke bitterly against Wallace, especially against his recent proposal for party discipline. Hannegan was the target of half a dozen more, but Representative John E. Rankin of Mississippi got little response, when several times, he tried to turn the discussion to his favorite subject—"the Communists, Niggers and Jews."

Loudest wailer of the non-southerners was ex-prize fighter Alfred J. Elliott of California, who demanded a letter of apology from Hannegan, insisting that Hannegan was personally responsible.

Elliott told his southern colleagues that he sympathized with their problems, and that it was about time Democratic leadership began to pay attention to their complaints.

As for Hannegan, Elliott griped that he had phoned him recently for an appointment.

"The girl in his office told me he couldn't see me because he had just had a tooth pulled," Elliott bellowed. "Tooth pulled—why I told her I had 26 teeth pulled once but that didn't stop me from talking to people who had legitimate business with me."

Put the wrong brand of stuff in them and the goblets will get you if you don't watch out.

We used to think of them as just our highways. Now they're our highways and lowways—and not so merrily we roll along.

It's a sin to play golf on Sunday, says an Ohio pastor. Especially the way some people play it.

People who have but little usually are the ones who make the best of what they have.

Many a hubby who plays bridge gets the most kick out of the game when he's playing opposite his wife.

Folks are already thinking about vacation—and home will be considered only as a last resort.

Q. I sent my mother a money order for $25 when I was overseas. She writes that she has never received it. I have the receipt and would like to know how I can recover the money?

A. Contact your local postmaster and give him whatever data you have concerning the money order and request that he initiate a trace.

Q. I was court-martialed while in the Army and fined several hundred dollars. Since I was honorably discharged, would I have the right to apply for a refund of the amount of my fine?

A. No.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Q. How many children has Sir Stafford Cripps?

A. He has three daughters and one son.

Q. When is Child Health Day observed?

A. An act approved by Congress May 18, 1923, designated May 1 as Child Health Day. The first proclamation was issued by President Hoover in 1929. In many cities Child Health Day is extended to Child Health Week with the health authorities urging parents to have their young children immunized to the ordinary communicable disease while they are below school age.

Q. How close to the Unknown Soldier's Tomb in Arlington Cemetery, Va., can one go in an automobile? Did President Roosevelt have far to walk when he visited the tomb and amphitheatre?

A. Motorists may drive along Roosevelt Avenue, east and in sight of the tomb for a distance of perhaps 300 or 400 feet, and cars must keep moving. However, there are parking spaces closer than that, from which visitors can walk to the tomb. Special driveways were used for the President to approach the Unknown Soldier's Tomb and Arlington amphitheatre. When visiting the tomb he was driven to a parkway within 100 feet of it, and completed the journey on foot. The special driveway to the amphitheatre goes to the Presidential entrance.

Q. Is it true that Italian or German born aliens in this country may not become citizens until after the war?

A. There is a mistaken impression that an alien who is technically an "enemy alien" cannot become a citizen of the United States for the duration of the war.

Q. Is the radio news analyst, B. S. Bercoveci, a native-born American?

A. No, he was born in Rumania.

WOULD MERGE HEALTH UNITS

Delta-Menominee Public Health District Is Planned Jointly

Merger of the Delta and Menominee county health departments into one public health district organization yesterday was considered by the Delta county board of supervisors following recommendations by Dr. Russell Pleune of Escanaba, deputy commissioner of the state health department, and the county board's public health committee.

Combining the two county units in one district would not increase the present county budgets and would result in a "much more efficient organization," Dr. Pleune told the board.

He said that it has been evident for some time that a county with a population of less than 50,000 cannot support a health department under the 15-mill tax limitation. There is also the shortage of doctors and nurses to consider in planning a combined district, he added.

More state finances for health units was foreseen by Dr. Pleune, who said that the state legislature will be requested to provide funds on a 60-40 basis to counties of less than 50,000 population. This would increase the state participation in the public health program in Delta county to about $14,000.

Supervisor Harry Greene of Garden, chairman of the county board's health committee, told the board that Menominee county supervisors are expected to act on a similar motion toward the creation of a combined Delta-Menominee district. Advantages of the merger include sufficient funds for a full-time health director and an adequate staff. At present Delta county has Dr. Pleune's services as an acting director of its health unit.

Greene sponsored a resolution calling for the merger of the two county units for the benefit of the health of the people in both counties, and requested a three-man committee be appointed from Delta to meet with the Menominee county group to formulate plans for the merger. Chairman Thorsen named Greene, Fred Schram and Walter Manntie to the special committee, all members of the health committee.

St. Joseph High Pupils' Favorite, Trigonometry

Trigonometry is a specialty with 23 students of St. Joseph high school, as only those capable and ambitious take the course. This one semester subject follows a year of algebra and a year of geometry.

The first semester of the third year is taken up with advanced algebra followed in the second semester either by trigonometry, as this class, or solid geometry. During the first semester of the third year the students have the opportunity to choose between the two latter subjects which they prefer studying. By taking the full three years of mathematics it completes their major in that course of which they must have three units to be eligible at graduation for a college study.

Two ex-servicemen are included in the class, Richard Juetten and Jerome Mileski. These boys will receive their diplomas along with the other graduates this June. Richard Juetten is taking only trigonometry but Jerome Mileski is taking a regular course of study at the school. These boys were called to the service before their graduation.

Both juniors and seniors are members of the class which is composed mostly of boys. Juniors taking this course this year will take solid geometry next year. The students say at first they tremble at the prospects of hopeless entanglement in trigonometric functions at the opening of the class in the second semester. But after initiation into the realm of sines and cosines their fright ceases and those who stood the test of the first few days now like the class and are proud to be taking the subject.

No two class periods are identical, variety in practical problems challenge their mathematical skill and they're eager to win.

Motto of the class is: "Hard Work Never Hurt Anyone".

SCHOOL FOREST IDEA SPREADING

Extension Forester Of U. P. Visits Delta County

Roy Skog, of Marquette, extension forester of Michigan State College in the Upper Peninsula, visited school forests in Delta county Monday and Tuesday and reported increasing interest in school forests as a result of the Escanaba Daily Press "Trees Forever" promotion.

Skog visited the Rapid River school forest Monday and reported that the 240-acre tract is developing nicely and that some cutting will be necessary there within the next year. Additional plantings also are planned at Rapid River this spring.

The Brampton township school at Kipling is the latest to express interest in the development of a school forest and has already made application to the state conservation department for a tract of land for this purpose.

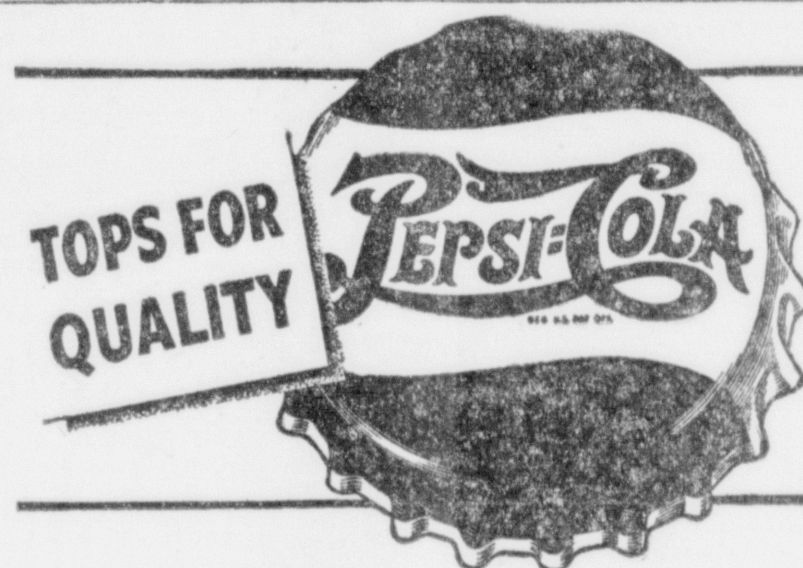

Considerable interest also is being evidenced in the schools of this area in the Daily Press "Trees Forever" poster contest. The best entries from each school

School Heads Hear About Procedures In Surplus Buying

About 25 Upper Peninsula school superintendents and other school officials learned about the procedure necessary to procure surplus government property, at a meeting held here yesterday morning at the junior high school. When available, the surplus property may be purchased by schools at a discount of 40 percent.

Speakers at the meeting were J. D. MacConnell, field representative, U. S. Office of Education; R. M. Winter, chief, Division of Surplus Property, state department of public instruction and John T. Caragher, priorities chief, will be submitted to the Daily Press for final judging next week. Winning entries will be displayed in Escanaba and cash prizes will be offered for the best 10 posters submitted. A first prize award of $10 is offered with $5 for second prize, $3 for third and seven awards of $1 each.

It's a neat trick

but we can't do it

ADVENTUROUS little boys risk their hides on hazards like this every day. But most grown-ups shy away from risks—especially if they have a responsibility to other folks. Here at Michigan Bell, we have a vital 24-hour-a-day responsibility to millions of Michigan people. We have to keep our feet solidly on the ground.

This rule applies to every phase of our business, including the company's earnings. Good telephone service depends on adequate earnings, and we must avoid any risks that might jeopardize them.

Here is why. Thousands of thrifty people have their savings invested in Bell System securities. Their money makes good telephone service possible. In fact, Michigan Bell's 5-year $150,000,000 expansion program will be financed by these and other investors. And that program will provide more and better telephone service for you.

So you see, our earnings are important all around. And telephone rates—such a small part of your monthly budget—must be maintained at a level which will keep our earnings adequate. Otherwise, investors would put their money into some other business, and the future quality and extent of your telephone service would suffer.

We believe our customers want good telephone service, even if it costs a trifle more than inferior service.

Technical improvements in the past brought rates for good service down and have kept them down in the face of rising costs. As rapidly as future improvements will permit, we expect and want our rates to come down still further. For, Michigan Bell wants rates no higher—and no lower—than necessary to insure good telephone service.

Instead of pitying home-owners, those who once yearned for the unencumbered life envy them now.

Permanence is beginning to look good. If the housing shortage succeeds in making home-owners of the country's young married folks, there will be one ray of sunshine in the depressing situation.

For the foot-loose ideal is bad for marriage. Generally speaking, the young couple who settle down to become a real part of a community get ahead faster than do the man and wife who are always dreaming of greener pasture.

But it's different today. Families who have had houses sold out from under them, or who have lived in mortal fear that such a calamity would make them homeless, have a new respect for the idea of owning their home.

When selecting parsnips it is important that the roots are small to medium in size. Large, coarse roots are woody. The best method of cooking is to boil them whole, without peeling. When they are tender, peel and split lengthwise. After boiling, they can be simply buttered or creamed, broiled or sauteed.

TABLE REQUEST OF VET OFFICE

County Board Committee
Reports OVA Now Has
$7,000 Available

The request of Robert Lemire, counselor for the Delta county Office of Veterans Affairs, that the county board of supervisors appropriate $2,500 to assist in financing the OVA office program for 1946 was tabled by the board yesterday on recommendation of the board's finance committee.

Supervisor Harold Gustafson of Ensign township, chairman of the finance committee, reported to the board that "figures supplied by the Office of Veterans Affairs showed that it has $7,000 in funds which are sufficient for the present time."

In asking the assistance of the county in financing the office, Lemire told the supervisors that funds are necessary to continue the operation of the office for the benefit of returning servicemen.

Lemire cited the recent OVA request to the Escanaba city council for an appropriation which was tabled while an investigation of how OVA offices were financed and how they function in other counties was conducted.

Lemire said that he had a copy of an investigation summary made for the city council, and that statistics showed Delta was the only county where an appeal had to be made for funds to operate the offices established at the request of Gov. Kelly.

Some of the annual budget figures for OVA offices in other counties included: Chippewa—$5,250; Menominee—$6,000; Marquette—$4,500; Dickinson—$6,000; Alger—$3,000; Ontonagon—$4,000. The budget figure for the Delta county OVA office was $11,671.

Lemire said that Delta county has contributed $1,500 so far. A recent public campaign for funds "did not bring in quite as much as anticipated," he added. With an appropriation from the county the office could continue for this year, Lemire told the supervisors.

State emergency hospitalization disbursed to Delta county veterans since establishment of the office totals $3,840.90, Lemire explained.

The board's finance committee report recommending that the request for $2,500 be tabled "to a future date" left the way open for an appropriation, it was indicated by the committee. The recommendation was made, Supervisor Gustafson said, after the investigating committee's reported figures had been checked, together with figures on funds now available to the Delta county OVA office.

Later in the meeting the county board approved a resolution petitioning Gov. Kelly to have state funds appropriated for the financing of county OVA offices. Similar resolutions have been adopted by Alger and Iron counties.

Serious Charges Made Against County Road Commission, Engineer

Charges of "misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance and acts of misconduct in the performance of duty, contrary to the best interests and to the damage of citizens of Delta county" were officially made against Delta County Road Commissioners August Larson, Rock, Hilding Norstrom, Gladstone, Marcus McNabb, Escanaba, and County Road Engineer J. T. Sharpsteen, also of this city, by a special committee of the county board of supervisors at the supervisors meeting here yesterday.

The committee, composed of Charles C. Priester, Earl Paquin and Henry Cassidy, was appointed by the board on March 23, and charged with the task of making a report and recommendation in respect to grave accusations made against the commission and engineer regarding the conduct of their offices.

Sharpsteen and the three commission members will have an opportunity to answer the charges at a hearing set for Saturday, April 27, when the supervisors will meet again in a special session at the county courthouse.

Seven Charges
The seven official charges covered ten typewritten pages and were read by Charles C. Priester, chairman of the committee.

In brief, the charges stated:
1.—That the county road commission and engineer "have discriminated unfairly and unreasonably against veterans of World War II in regard to hire; tenure of employment; terms and conditions of employment; wages and hours of work; and acquisition of seniority rights."

2.—That the commission and engineer "on numerous occasions denied the authority and lawful powers of the Delta county board of supervisors by brazenly disregarding, ignoring and failing to respond to the requests, recommendations and orders of the board and its committee." The second charge emphasized the commission's alleged failure to comply with the supervisors' recommendations respecting labor relations and that this has led to "an intolerable situation in county government."

3.—That the commission and engineer "have unlawfully, improperly and deliberately exceeded their statutory powers; and by so doing have willfully usurped and exercised powers granted by the state constitution and statutes to the board of supervisors."

4.—That the commission and engineer "have been guilty of engaging in unfair labor practices to the great detriment, expense and danger of the people of Delta county." That such unfair labor practices have been engaged in contrary to the expressed will, recommendation, requests and orders of the board of supervisors.

The charge stated that, as a result of unfair labor practices a condition of great dissension, unrest and dissatisfaction has arisen among the employees of the road commission; further that this resulted in a work stoppage of three weeks in March, 1945, to the experse of the people of Delta county.

5.—That the commissioners "have unlawfully delegated powers granted them to the county engineer, contrary to the statutes and laws providing for the powers of the county road engineer. That thereby the commissioners have abdicated and unlawfully surrendered their legal powers and responsibilities to J. T. Sharpsteen, who has conspired and participated in this unlawful procedure by usurping the lawful powers and responsibilities of the board of the commissioners."

6.—That the road commissioners and road superintendent and engineer have been guilty of bad faith in regard to their labor relations policy, in their dealings with the board of supervisors, the public of Delta county and their employees. "That they have repeatedly stated to the board of supervisors and to the public that no grievances or disputes did exist between them and their employees, notwithstanding the existence of conditions which led to a work stoppage in March of 1945, and which has caused continual strife and unrest since that time."

"That, further, these men have disobeyed the orders of the county board of supervisors and its labor relations committee in regard to arbitration of disputes, under the open explanation and claim that no dispute existed, although at the very time the existence of disputes and grievances was a matter of common public knowledge."

7.—"That Commissioner Marcus McNabb has been guilty of viola-

FISH PLANTING FOLLOWS STUDY

Trend Is To Management Of Fishing Waters For Production

There is a story of 25 years of study and preparation behind the scheduled planting of 4,000 brown and rainbow trout in the Escanaba river April 15. The study was made and is continuing by the fish division of the Michigan department of conservation.

Weather conditions that have made soft backwoods roads passable well in advance of the trout season have helped the conservation department get started on its most ambitious legal-sized trout planting program in history.

While stocking of warm-water fish and fingerling trout has been greatly curtailed, the department has set itself a goal of one million "keepers" planted in trout streams and lakes this season. Plantings, already begun, will continue periodically until August 15. In 1945 the legal-sized trout plant was 870,000, in 1944, 611,000.

Biggest threat to the one million goal is the still critical hatchery food supply problem. As in wartime rationing days, purchase of slaughterhouse products for hatchery food is on a day-to-day basis, but as long as the supply lasts the trout are being reared to the full seven-inch length before release.

Fox River Planting
In the Au Sable and Rifle rivers in the southern peninsula and in the Fox river in the northern peninsula, all trout planted are being fin clipped for ready identification by fishermen.

Evolution from a fish-planting agency to an organization managing fishing waters for maximum production marks the history of the fish division of the state conservation department, which this month completes 25 years of steady work on the problem.

Faith ran high in fish planting in the early 1920's. As common use of the auto brought inroads on even remote lakes and streams, the division—then called specifically the division of fish cultural operations—held that the growing drain on inland waters must be met with increased production of fish reared in state hatcheries. The state-owned railway car "Wolverine" from which fish were taken in milk cans for planting with the aid of local sportsmen was a familiar sight.

Even at that time the need for biological surveys of lakes and streams was recognized, however. Now, after a quarter-century of planning, experiment and investigation, the division believes the stocking job is largely completed and, except for stream trout fishing may do more harm than good. Emphasis now is on improving different waters as a farmer cultivates his fields, to make them yield the largest annual crops of the fish to which they are best suited.

Smelt Cause Fear
Notes of bygone days in the old reports are arguments for a resident fishing license to finance better fisheries management, a trout limit of 35 a day (now it is 15) and black bass and walleye limits twice the present five. In the old days, more than 500 rainbow spearing permits were issued annually, and the destruction of "noxious" fish and transplanting adult fish from Great Lakes to inland waters got serious consideration. Smelt had just made its appearance, and there was apprehension it might harm trout fishing in streams.

became a critical problem only in the last decade, and has been met by a purchase program already providing more than 200 sites which are points of entry for fishermen.

Quantities of commercial fish taken have not changed radically in 25 years, but the proportion of coarcted fish has increased and the value of the better species, such as lake trout and whitefish, has just about doubled. Sturgeon, then taken at the rate of 26,000 pounds a year, have disappeared from the commercial catch, and goldfish have been added to the list.

Twenty-five years ago state fisheries men foresaw no alternative to an international treaty to halt the heavy drain on Great Lakes commercial fish supplies. Only now, on the department's silver anniversary, is this treaty near to becoming a reality.

GREEN GRASS HAS PROTEIN

Maybe Nebuchadnezzar Had Right Idea After All

Atlantic City, N. J.—Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, was pitted as a madman when he forsook his palace and ate grass in the meadow with the cows. But maybe he wasn't so crazy after all; if he ate his grass in the spring when it was young and tender he was getting a diet containing 40 per cent protein on a dry-weight basis, which would beat soybeans and run beefsteak pretty close competition, and he was getting quantities of valuable vitamins besides.

The virtues and values of 40 per cent protein grass were extolled before the meeting of the American Chemical Society here today by C. F. Schnabel of Research Products, Inc., of Kansas City, Mo. Not only does grass, cut and quick-cured while young, have three or four times more meat-and-milk-making protein than it will contain later on at the usual hay-making stage, but the protein is qualitatively much better, he declared. And he added the assertion that the protein of good grass has a higher biologic value than milk protein.

For ages, the speaker said, farmers have been waiting too long to cut their grass. When cut at the conventional time, just as it comes into bloom, it has lost the greater part of its food value, and it loses more when slowly dried into hay in the traditional manner. Early cutting and quick drying are the key to high nutritional value in grass, he stated.

To emphasize his point, Mr. Schnabel told his audience that "only 10,000,000 acres of 40 per cent protein grass, if it could be preserved at the peak of its equality, would be worth over $20,000,000,000 for its carotene, vitamin C and protein, even if they were valued at only 50, 5 and 0.1 cents per gram, respectively. That is more than the total value of all the human food now produced on 285,000,000 acres in America."

Spring Comes To Upper Peninsula

BY FERN BERRY

From the shores of Lake Superior along Sullivan's Landing and the sand dunes of Grand Marais, to the innermost depths of the forest and swamp, Spring comes a-marching to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

The trailing arbutus are like gay flowered cushions on the carpet of the pine forest floor. Their rosy sheen is not equalled in any wild flower of the state of Michigan—a frosty silken sheen admired by all.

In the deep woods the pale violets open faintly lavender blossoms hidden among the lush green of their foliage, and the bloodroot stars the woodland aisles with snowy white and golden yellow. The pretty little spring beauties and the yellow adder tongue, the marsh marigold and the pitcher plant and swamp laurel, the yellow and the pink lady's slipper and the trillium and nodding wake robin all make up a vast parade of color and fragrance to march from Lake Superior to Lake Michigan and to border the shores of Lake Huron.

Even before the high piles of ice have melted from the lake shores the junberry nuts forth her buds and blooms of white along the high banks of the big lake. These shrubs bloom and develop a sweet rich fruit which the little and big wild folk of the North country love; the humans also like to eat of the juicy fruit of the junberry. The huckleberry or blueberry vines are ringing out the message that Spring is here. Their tiny silken bells will later bear the popular wild fruit. Yes, Spring has come to Upper Michigan.

Easter Cantata To Be Presented Next Tuesday At G.H.S.

An Easter Cantata entitled "Hail the Victor" written by Alfred Wooller is to be presented by the Gladstone high school. Mixed chorus next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium.

The text of the music is chiefly Biblical. The music is divided into fourteen numbers which include seven numbers by the entire chorus, tenor solo, a bass recitative, a soprano solo, an alto solo and a number by a girls' double sextet.

The tenor soloist, Ray Stecker, is developing a fine tenor quality in his singing. Although only a freshman, he is gaining recognition as a soloist in the several churches in Gladstone. Ray has two complete solo numbers plus several incidental solos in the chorus numbers. Alcide Valind, sopranos, possesses a promising baritone voice. This will be his first public appearance.

Mildred Ketchum, well known soprano soloist, will have a number in the program. Marilyn Bergman, who so completely won her audience at the Christmas concert, will present an equally pleasing solo entitled "He Was Wounded for Our Transgressions."

To make the story of the cantata more easy to follow, seven members of the chorus have speaking parts. These will occur throughout the program, each one describing the musical number immediately following. This material is taken from the American translation of the Bible. Parts will be spoken by Roberta Moore, Betty Sisan, Eldon Johnson, Bert Anggren, Carol Cowan, David Engstrom and Marilyn Bergman.

An unusual feature of the program will be the double-piano accompaniment of all numbers sung by the chorus. Betty Anne Bredahl and Joanne McMillan have been rehearsing together diligently for the past three weeks. This performance will be a fitting climax for these girls, both seniors, as they have been accompanists for choral groups throughout their four years in high school.

The chorus consists of 142 voices, the largest to represent Gladstone in many years.

CITY EMPLOYEES GET PAY BOOST

Renewal Of Licenses Of 13 Drinking Places Approved

Salaries of municipal employees of Gladstone will be increased when the annual budget for the fiscal year is adopted, it was decided by action of the city commission Monday evening.

In discussing the budget before its formal introduction at the next regular meeting of the commission on April 22, the governing body by resolution authorized $10 monthly boosts for all regular monthly employees, a $30 monthly increase for City Manager H. J. Henriksen, a boost to 80 cents per hour for hourly employees and 90 cents for mechanics.

This is over and above the $7.50 monthly granted last October and which was incorporated as part of the salary a month or more ago.

Thirteen license renewal applications for local drink places were approved. They include the following: Tavern—Stella's Cafe, Westwood, High-Way, Mary's, The Spot, Blue Ribbon; Class C Restaurant—Arcadia, Roses, Hotel Jean, Van's, Lincoln House, Wally's and Bungalow.

In connection with the construction of lateral sewers where the mains have previously been laid, the city manager was instructed to charge the property owner not less than the actual cost of construction. Under WPA it was possible to have a lateral laid for about $50. Today the cost is in the vicinity of $125.

A drive on stray dogs will begin next Monday and any dogs not confined will be picked up and impounded. If not called for within two days they will be destroyed. Last year about 100 dogs were killed here but it hasn't seemed to lessen the canine population of the city, officials state.

Bids for a new truck for the street department will be sought.

PICK OFFICERS FOR U. P. ASS'N

George Grenholm First President Of Softball Group

The Upper Peninsula Softball association was formally organized here Sunday afternoon with the adoption of a constitution and the election of officers. George Grenholm, Escanaba city recreation director, was elected president of the organization; Paul Riopelle, Marquette, first vice president; Buck Erickson, Iron Mountain, second vice president; Fred Klaus, Menominee, treasurer, and Paul Vardigan, Escanaba, secretary. These officers plus district chairmen to be appointed later will constitute the board of directors of the association.

The new organization will seek direct affiliation with the Amateur Softball Union and severance from the Michigan Softball association.

The Upper Peninsula association decided to adopt the rules changes established by the Amateur Softball Union, providing for nine-man teams and shorter bases.

The matter of determining the site for the upper peninsula tournament was not decided at the organization meeting here Sunday afternoon, but it was left to the board of directors for decision later.

Communities represented at the meeting here Sunday included Menominee, Iron Mountain, Munising, Marquette, Negaunee, Gladstone and Escanaba. In addition Iron River and Ironwood sent endorsements of the organization and indicated that their clubs would join the association. A sanction fee of three dollars per club was established by the association.

All softball teams planning to participate in the Upper Peninsula tournament will be required to submit team rosters by July 15 and no transfers will be permitted after that date. This rule was established to prevent loading up for tournament competition.

District tournaments will also be conducted by the association to establish qualifiers for the upper peninsula tournament.

City associations are requested to enter their teams in the association as early as possible in order to establish a working fund and to properly appraise the softball interest in the Upper Peninsula.

Scrimmage Started By Michigan Squad

Ann Arbor, April 9 (AP)—With more than 140 candidates still on the roll call, the University of Michigan's football team resumed scrimmaging at Ferry Field this afternoon after getting a little added "basic training" in blocking yesterday.

Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler described as "slow but hopeful" the progress of the "Red" and "White" and "Blue" squads he and his assistants are whipping into shape.

For the most part former letter winners and other returning veterans are holding down "blue" squad posts, while those a little less advanced are working out with the other two groups.

The spring practice is now in its second week and probably will wind up May 18 with a full scale game. As yet, Crisler has made no particular effort to evaluate the potential of some of his players because the "conditioning" process has delayed our schedule somewhat.

A second period scoring spree, in which they garnered 22 points, saved Tom Swifts from a possible defeat last night at the junior high gym as they nipped Obergs, 50-48, in a thrilling finale to the city basketball tournament.

Practically all former high school cage stars, both quintets' performers let loose with all their tricks in the title game but the usual top scorers, Ranguette of Swifts, and Kessler of Obergs, again led with 14 and 20 counters, respectively.

Dude Ranguette was referee.

Cagers Land Jobs On Spartan Nine

East Lansing, April 9 (AP)—A pair of Michigan State College basketball players, Robin Roberts, of Springfield, Ill., and Pat Peppier, of Milwaukee, have changed uniforms and have landed first team positions on Coach John Kobs' Spartan baseball team.

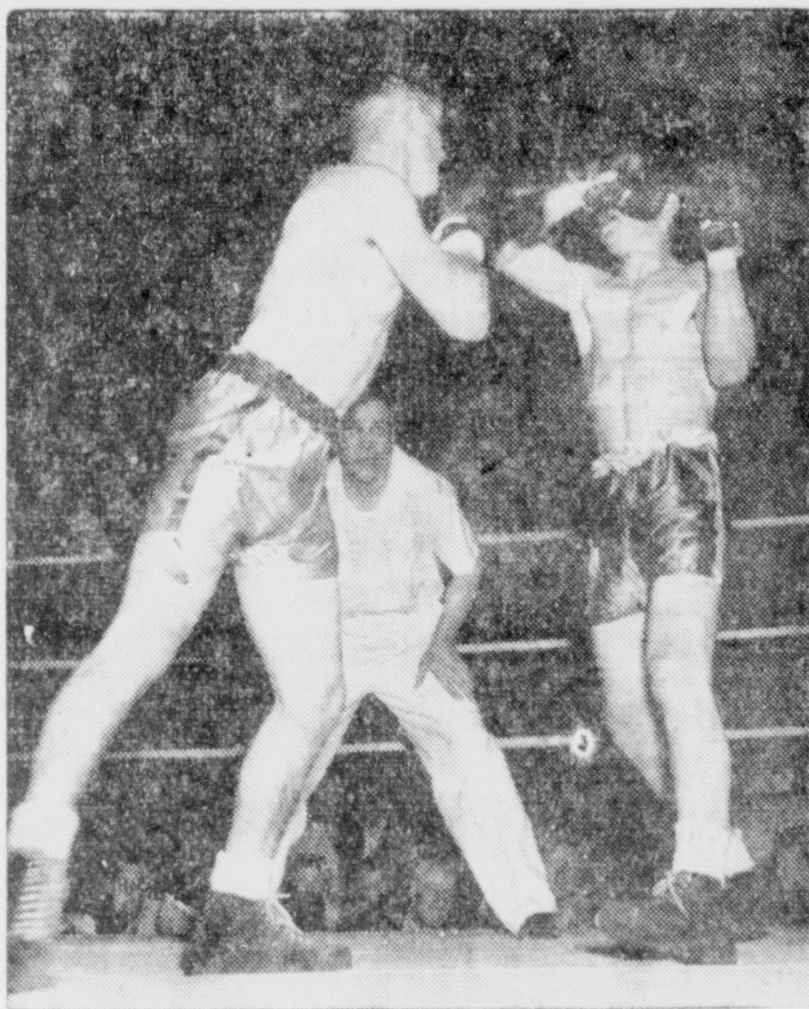

Although they did not go with the M.S.C. team on the recent southern trip because they reported for baseball practice only a week before the jaunt began, Roberts and Peppier were elevated to the varsity as soon as Kobs saw what they could do.

Roberts had developed into a top-notch pitcher with a blazing fast ball. Hurling from the right side, he also has a good curve and exceptional control. Peppier, an outfielder, is fast and on the base paths and is expected to add considerable batting power to the team. He is one of the few left-handed Spartan stickmen.

An intra-squad game between the varsity and the freshmen team will be played this weekend to help determine the starting lineup for the Spartans' opener April 19 with Wisconsin, Kobs said. The M.S.C. won all the contests on their nine-game southern junket.

Mortality in the 12 largest cities of the western province of Holland—where more than one-fourth of the entire population of the country lives—rose an average of 120 per cent in the first half of 1945.

Battlers Show Plenty Of Action At Manistique

THE WINDUP—Jimmy Hubbard, Soo, left in dark trunks, and Johnny Haindl of Manistique staged a three round thriller in the wind-up of the Manistique fight card, with Haindl, a former Golden Gloves champion, gaining a decision. It was a scrappy affair all the way and a fine climax to a good fight show.

MONTREAL GETS PUCK CUP BACK

Canadiens Take Bruins
6-3 In Stanley Cup
Hockey Finals

Montreal, April 9 (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens stormed through Boston's defenses for three goals in the final period tonight to defeat the Bruins 6-3 and regain the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's professional hockey championship.

In sweeping to their fifth Stanley Cup triumph since the NHL was organized in 1917 and their second in three years, the Canadiens captured eight of their nine play-off games. They eliminated the third-place Chicago Black Hawks in the semi-finals in four straight contests. The Bruins, second place club during the regular season, advanced by whipping Detroit's Red Wings four games to one.

Although they won the loop's pennant the last three years, the Canadiens were eliminated in the first round of the cup playoff last year.

Tonight's contest was bitterly fought and tempers flared in the final session as the players of both sides dealt out heavy body checks.

With the score tied at 3-all, Toe Blake, Canuck captain who had been playing despite an ailing back, drove in what proved to be the winning goal at 11:06 when he

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The large crowd of fans who attended the Manistique fight card Monday night was treated to a swell program with over two hours of jam-packed action. Johnny Haindl, the former Cooks battler who now resides in Manistique, showed all of his ring craftsmanship in winning a close decision from Jimmy Hubbard, of the Soo, in the finale and the crowd gave him a tremendous hand. Although he has been out of the ring for five years or more, Haindl was in tip top shape and proved that he had not slipped at all with the years of ring inactivity. Hubbard, a fine fighter and a grand guy, gave Haindl the best compliment of the night after the fight. "I learned a lot from fired an ankle high shot past Boston Goalie Frank Brimsek.

The Boston defenses fell apart and the fleet, hard-driving Canadiens sewed up the contest and the championship with two more tallies. Three minutes after Blake's clincher, Murph Chamberlain stole the puck from Pat Egan and beat Brimsek with a shot that never left the ice. The final goal of the major league hockey season went to Dutch Hillier who took Elmer Lach's pass and drilled the rubber past Brimsek at 17:14.

four newcomers to boxing showed a wealth of promise at the Manistique show. Wayne Anderson of Manistique, who won the opener from a teammate, Clifford Weber, made a fine showing and two Escanaba lads making their first start, Jim Piche and Joe Lequia, were particularly flashy. Piche looked like a ring veteran in taking a decision from Bill Edwards of Manistique and Joe Lequia was impressive in a closer decision from John Paul Quick of Manistique. Keith Slack of Manistique likewise displayed a lot of promise in scoring a TKO over Harold Goodnough of Escanaba. Goodnough took a hard blow to the stomach in the second round and was saved from a knockout by the bell. The referee stopped the fight early in the third.

The Ray Goodnough-Orville Van Effen matching was probably a mistake since both fighters were from Escanaba and were paired for a Manistique card, but it was extremely unfortunate that the

OWEN SUED BY MEXICAN LOOP

Pasquel Angered By Loss
Of Two Big Names
From U. S. League

Mexico City, April 9 (AP)—Jorge Pasquel, angered over two outs in his Mexican baseball league in the loss of big leaguers Vernon Stephens and Mickey Owen, said today he would file suit for $100,000 against Owen, Brooklyn catcher who changed his mind about going to Mexican loop.

Pasquel already had announced he would file a $100,000 suit against Stephens, St. Louis Browns shortstop who played two games in the Mexican league and then left to rejoin the Browns.

The suit against Owen will be filed in St. Louis, Pasquel said, because that was "where he signed his contract with us and where he got $20,000 cash in advance." Yesterday in San Antonio Owen denied he signed a contract and said he would return any money advanced him.

In Lexington, Ky., Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler said today that organized baseball would stand behind Owen and Stephens if they were sued by Mexican league interests, since "they are coming back at our call."

Pasquel, with his Mexican league further crippled by injuries, has been at the telephone constantly seeking new players to replace Owen and Stephens.

The Mexican loop still has much U. S. talent in uniform, however. Murray Franklin, infielder formerly with Detroit and Beaumont, left today to join Tampico.

Tom Gorman and Sal Maglie, former New York Giants pitchers, may make their debuts Thursday. Danny Gardella, Vera Cruz first baseman, appears to be the same happy songster he was with the Giants. Rene Montague, ex-Phillie, and George Hausmann, ex-Giant, say they're satisfied playing for Torreon. Roberto Ortiz, ex-Senator, is going great guns for Mexico City.

Commenting on a statement from U. S. Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler that the Mexican circuit would not survive, Pasquel said. His offer to bet anyone $20,000,000 the league finishes the season normally still stood.

Richards To Catch In Detroit Opener

Evansville, Ind., April 9 (AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill, of the Detroit Tigers, today made a shift in his probable opening day lineup, declaring that Paul Richards would catch instead of George (Birdie) Tebbetts, who rejoined the club here after a hospital examination had indicated that the pre-war Tiger backstop is suffering from stomach ulcers.

Tebbetts, who arrived from Detroit, declared that he was ready to catch, but that physicians had placed him on a strict diet.

NEW COACH APPROVED
Detroit, April 9 (AP)—By a vote of 5 to 1, the Detroit board of education today approved the appointment of John Hackett as Wayne University's new head football coach, succeeding Joe Gemble.

Hackett's appointment was recommended last week by Dr. Alden W. Thompson, Wayne's new divisional director of athletics.

The bout was stopped at the end of the second round. The judges thought the bout was an exhibition in which the battlers were pulling their punches but this was untrue. Since the crowd did not know either of the battlers very well, the bout lacked the cheering that accompanied the rest of the card. In contrast to the noise of previous bouts, the comparative quiet in this fight was oppressive, which may have prompted the decision to call the bout "no contest." Actually the majority of the fans rather enjoyed the match. In any case, the fight would have speeded up considerably in the final round when all of the chips were on the board.

me an envelope to take back to Detroit."

Kurner said that at the conclusion of his first trip to Jackson with liquor he met Selik in O'Larry's bar in company with David Mazloff, a former inmate who had employed him to make the deliveries.

The witness said Selik asked Mazloff if "he was sure I had delivered the weed."

Kurner said "I asked Dave after we left if there was narcotics—marijuana—in the package and he said 'I am sorry I didn't know who was in it.'"

Kurner replied in the affirmative to Assistant Attorney General Jackson's question "you were worried about this weed business because you had served time in federal prison and didn't want to get mixed up with a narcotics rap?"

Story Branded Lie

Warden Jackson declared Kurner's story was a "preposterous lie."

About two weeks later, he said, he made his third trip to Jackson, this time to the house identified as the warden's home.

L. D. Johnson, chief engineer at the state prison, testified "there has been very little gambling in the prison" since the former officials were removed, "because the cards and dice have been cleaned up."

Johnson also testified there "is less reluctance on the part of a guard now to break up a game." He declared that under the former regime the prison lacked proper discipline and organization, that "inmates sabotaged machinery and equipment and seemed to run the place to suit themselves."

The "lax conditions," he said, were not entirely due to the shortage of guards because of wartime manpower limitations. "The poor organization among the guards was the result in poor organization at the top. The top officials seemed to be reluctant to roll up their sleeves and clean up."

Paid For Privileges

Charles T. Cahill, guard captain at the prison, testified there was "too much inactivity among the inmates, indicating too many on an assignment," and that "at times there was distinct evidence there was no cooperation among

BLOWS BUNCHED AS TIGERS WIN

Three Runs In 9th Spoil
Fine Pitching Job, Nip
Braves 4 To 3

Evansville, Ind., April 9 (AP)—Bunching four hits for three runs in the ninth inning, the Detroit Tigers spoiled a superlative pitching performance by Rookie Left-hander Jim Wallace and defeated the Boston Braves 4 to 3 in the last game of the nine-game exhibition baseball series.

The Tiger victory, highlighted by Pinch-hitter Billy Hitchcock's ninth inning triple, was Detroit's seventh in the nine games with the Braves.

Tomorrow the Tigers move to Terre Haute, Ind., to open a four-game set with the Cincinnati Reds. Wallace, who pitched all the way for the Braves, treated his home town Evansville fans to three-hit shutout pitching for seven innings, but couldn't hang on.

Detroit counted once in the eighth on Eddie Lake's walk and singles by Eddie Mayo and Dick Wakefield and tucked away, the verdict in the ninth.

Trailing 3 to 1 as a result of Boston's three runs in the first two innings off Hal Manders, the Tigers opened the important ninth inning rally with successive singles by Jim Outlaw and Catcher Joe Erazut. Billy Hitchcock then batted for Pitcher Les Mueller and planted a mighty triple in right field, scoring Outlaw and Erazut to tie the count at 3-all.

After Eddie Lake bounced out, Mayo singled to right to score Hitchcock with the winning run.

"The victory justly went to Mueller, who relieved Manders in the sixth and gave the Braves only one hit in four innings. Manders gave up nine hits and three runs in his five-inning turn.

Boston (N) 120 000 000—3 10 0

TRAVEL TIME CUT

In maneuvers conducted at Camp Dix, N. J., Army trucks, transported in trucks, covered 200 miles in eight days, a distance that would require 20 days by foot.

Charles Weaver, an inmate of the Ionia reformatory, serving time for breaking and entering in Grand Rapids, testified tonight that he paid $15 to D. C. Pettit, former assistant deputy warden, who also was dismissed, for a transfer in assignment from the prison laundry to the prison kitchen.

Weaver declared he had made arrangements with Pettit to pay $100 for an assignment outside the prison walls but did not have the money when the opportunity came for the transfer.

Weaver, who testified he had a long prison record in several institutions, testified that at the Southern Michigan prison gambling was wide open in the prison yard on holidays.

"We used to buy early unlocks (the privilege of leaving cells early) and would wait until Communion, that inmates sabotaged machinery and equipment and seemed to run the place to suit themselves."

He testified that gambling concessions were set up in the yard, including black jack tables and tables for shooting crap. "If an officer came by on a holiday he would stand and watch the game," the witness said.

Defense Attorney Edward F. Behan challenged Weaver's testimony on the ground his prison record gave him a mental age of 14 years. The witness replied "those tests aren't fair. You go into prison with a 10 to 15 year sentence facing you and no good time and when they take you up for that test you aren't much interested in shining."

GIRRBACH OUT FOR GOVERNOR

State Senator To Seek G.O.P. Nomination At Polls June 18

Sault Ste. Marie—State Senator George Girrbach of Sault Ste. Marie today announced his candidacy for nomination as Republican candidate for governor in the state primary election June 18. If elected Senator Girrbach would be the second Michigan governor from the Northern Peninsula and the first since Governor Chase S. Osborn, 1911-12.

"For many months I have been urged by my friends to enter the Republican primary for governor," Senator Girrbach said. "Among these friends have been members of the Northern Peninsula Dairy-men's Association, the Forty and Eight, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign War, the American Legion, members of the State House and Senate and by the rank and file of business men, farmers, workmen, labor organizations and men's and women's clubs.

"The time has come when I can no longer ignore these urgings. In justice to them and in acceptance of their faith and confidence in me, and in consideration of the volume of signed petitions received, I am entering my name in the primary race for governor on the Republican ticket."

Senator Girrbach is serving his first term in the state senate. He is prominent in Legion activities and at present is Grand Chef de Gare of the Michigan Forty and Eight. He has been State Poppy Chairman for the Legion for several years.

A life long Republican, Senator Girrbach is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. He managed a 400 acre dairy farm in 1913-14 and later taught dairymen at the University of Minnesota. He served in the U. S. Army in 1917-18 enlisting as a private and rising to the rank of first lieutenant before his discharge.

In 1921-22 he was secretary of a Chamber of Commerce and general manager of a county fair. In 1923 he built the Rudyard Creamery and in 1924 received a master of science degree from Michigan State College.

He served as a dairy extension specialist at the State College from 1924 to 1930 and in that year took over the management of the Sault and Rudyard creameries.

Senator Girrbach has been a director of the Michigan Creamery Owners Association, a life member of the Holstein Friesian Association and is also a member of the Michigan State Grange.

As a former farmer, Senator Girrbach raised his own stock and operated his own farm.

As a laborer he served an apprenticeship on the Soo Line Railroad, worked his way through high school and college and employs labor. As a teacher he holds a life certificate to teach. He was engaged eight years for Michigan State College in extension work. For 16 years he has been owner-manager of the Sault and Rudyard Creameries.

As a war veteran he has been on the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission for over ten years. He is a member of the veterans committee of the State Senate at the present time.

As a state senator he is close to the problems of the state. The following Michigan men and women have agreed to serve on Senator Girrbach's committee, Sam C. Taylor, Burney C. Veum, Wilfred Ranta, Roy D. Hollingsworth, Clifford D. Everett, past state commander of the VFW Robert C. Cline Jr., Claude Coates, F. Ray Gillespie, John G. Zabelka, D. E. Turner of Rudyard, William Lewis of Detroit, Thomas Maki of Rudyard, John MacInnis, Forbes McDonald of Pickford, John C. Hunter of Hulbert, E. M. Batdorf of Rudyard, A. C. Wells of Menominee, Ed Reindl of Menominee, Ed Barstow of Menominee, Ole Thorson of Escanaba, William Warmington of Escanaba, John Norton of Escanaba, George McCormick of Menominee, Dr. A. E. Tucker of Marquette, John O. Hovie, Isaac DeYoung, Raymond T. Marriott, Jay Gerrie, Thomas Wallace, John Rellis, Herbert C. Ryan, Rep. Victor A. Knox, James Robertson, Frank P. Sullivan, E. A. Wieseke, James Sibbald, T. H. Williamson, Rev. E. R. A. Green, Thomas Folkner, Irene Freeman, Jane McLachlan and Fern Harris of the Sault.

Lightweight Coal Car Is Produced

Washington—An all-welded coal car that is designed to eliminate 15 per cent of the deadweight was exhibited here.

The new hopper, produced by the railroad research bureau of the United States Steel Corporation, has an empty weight of 33,500 pounds. That is 6,540 pounds less than standard cars built of carbon steel using specifications.

Constructed of Cor-Ten, a steel alloy, the new coal car is claimed to have high strength and corrosion resistance that will mean longer life.

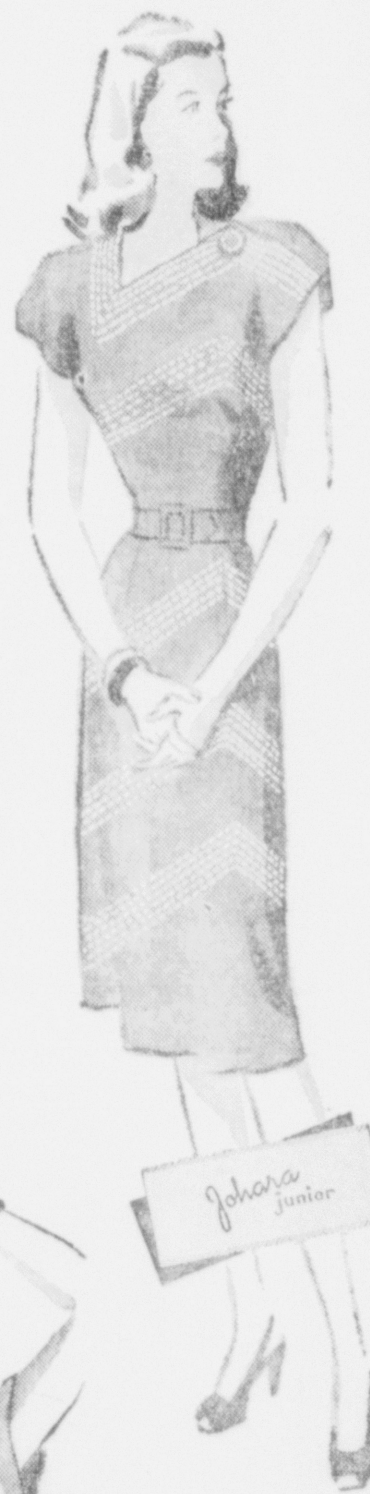

The steel alloy permits thinner sections, while welded joints simplify construction and provide seals against moisture and eliminate laps, the car's designers report.

Although it looks very much like a conventional coal car, the new hopper has an increased cubic capacity.

The name Maryland was given to the eighth smallest state in the union in honor of the wife of Charles I, Queen Henrietta Maria of England.
